Medical Gas Specialists.

Providing global medical gas training, consultancy & design to the healthcare sector.

MediGAS UK Ltd is a medical gas specialist based in Manchester, United Kingdom. The organisation aims to promote medical gas compliance in the medical and healthcare sector, with patient safety at the forefront. We are focused on providing high quality, efficient and flexible training & consultancy that suits the customer requirement.

Founded and created by highly experienced industry Engineers & UK leading business management specialists, to create a new dynamic and energetic approach to the availability, delivery and design of medical gas training & consultancy services.

Working with NHS England, NHS Scotland, leading UK Universities, Private Hospitals and industry leading global suppliers and contractors.

○ Mission Statement.

To provide engaging and educational training courses in line with the relevant national standards. We are motivated to improve the awareness of the hazards associated with medical gas cylinders and systems, to all areas of the healthcare sector whilst offering support and guidance on the management, maintenance & installation of the Medical Gas Pipeline Systems. We strive to explore and establish customer's training requirements; offering flexible and bespoke training solutions that are relevant and meaningful to the delegates and the organisation they represent.

○ Vision.

- To be a pillar of support that underpins the medical gas pipeline system infrastructure for healthcare premises.
- Globally recognised as the gold standard of training provision.
- Maintain that our customers are our lifeblood, where customer experience will always be paramount to our organisation.
- Lead the way in training delivery methods, exploring new technology, self-awareness, and customer feedback to evaluate and improve our course offerings.

○ Friendly and Experienced Tutors.

Our team of qualified 'Medical Gas Engineering Training and Risk Specialists' provide on site and classroom based training both nationally and internationally. Training ranges from individual 'one to one' half day courses on medical gas safety for Nurses and Porters, through to complete organisational wide education and awareness programmes.

Educational Ethos.

We embrace a learning environment that will prepare the delegates for their path ahead at all levels of experience; from entry into the industry to refresher courses for experienced delegates.

Our classes incorporate traditional learning styles as well as hands-on practical experience, ensuring clients have the confidence and skills essential for their medical gas involvement.

Our Tutors

Our courses are both internally and externally verified and are delivered by qualified tutors with the following minimum credentials:

- Authorised Person (MGPS)
- HNC Mechanical Engineering
- Level 3 in adult education & training
- Relevant industry experience
- Experience in leading high hazard MGPS projects
