IRIC e-learning module on Turas

The Incident reporting & Investigation Centre (IRIC) has produced an e-learning module which is available on TURAS. The module gives staff working within health boards, local authorities and independent contractors an introduction to IRIC. It also gives information on their responsibilities and the importance of reporting adverse incidents to IRIC when they involve medical devices, estates, facilities, social care equipment and PPE.

All health and care professionals are encouraged to add the IRIC e-learning module to their Personal Development Plan. To access the module on Turas, just click the link above or scan the QR code to the left. Anyone can create a Turas account.

Medical Device Safety

Scottish Government has also produced e-Learning modules which are available on its TURAS page. Level 1 is for all staff and Level 2 is for staff who regularly use or provide medical devices as part of their role. For more information, click the link above or scan the medical device safety QR code.
